

Alertness between the Agency and Contractor

Bradley Barkman

South Florida RTA Director of Operations

and

Don Saunders

Veolia Transportation Chief Operations Officer

Service provided in the Sunshine State Florida

2012 RAIL CONFERENCE

Partners in Tri-Rail Service

as well as others

Elements requiring alertness Between the Agency and Contractor

- Hours of Service
- Personal Electronic devices use
- Conductor Certification

Hours of service

- Fatigue modeling
- Tool box
- Employee involvement

Personal Electronic devices

- Current FRA requirements
- Current host railroad operating rules
- Contract requirements

Conductor Certification

- Identify requirements beyond current
- Identify frequency for current training
- Determine true additional requirements

Managing these opportunities

- Team approach to all new requirements
- Potential conflicts with contract language
- Potential Cost impacts

Managing these opportunities continued

- What was included in the base contract
- Fatigue modeling impact on cost
- Conductor certification impact on cost

Thanks for your time

