Kevin P. Martin
Partner
Goodwin Procter, LLP

Kevin P. Martin is co-chair of Goodwin's Appellate Litigation Group. Mr. Martin's practice involves high stakes appeals and trials before federal and state courts and administrative agencies, with a focus on matters presenting complex constitutional and administrative law issues. He also has extensive experience representing clients in intellectual property and commercial disputes, and in internal and government investigations in the United States and overseas.

Prior to joining Goodwin, Mr. Martin clerked for Justice Antonin Scalia on the United States Supreme Court and Judge Laurence Silberman on the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit.

Mr. Sheys, who is Chambers-rated nationally in the rail field and AV Preeminent® Peer Review Rated by Martindale-Hubbell, counsels railroad industry clients on a wide range of regulatory issues. These include railroad safety compliance and waivers; hazardous materials transport compliance; federal approvals for railroad construction projects and line acquisitions; the scope of federal railroad labor, employment and retirement laws; and compliance with the wide array of laws applicable to recipients of federal funding.
